Asheville, 23 March 1891.

Dear Dr. Watson,

I suppose the volume referred to in the inclosed has gone by me, and so I thought it better to ask you to fill out the blank for Dr. Goodale, and return it to Washington if you will be so kind.

We are still enjoying Asheville in fact more than ever, now that we have Spring flowers, and Spring weather. We are all very well, Caroline gaining rapidly, and seeming better in every way than at any time since her illness.

I trust all goes well with you and your sister and niece. My kindest remembrance to them.

My last word from Dr. Goodale was a cable from Singapore a week ago today. It is delightful to think that he is now coming nearer home all the time.

With kindest regards

Very sincerely Yours,

Henrietta J. Goodale.
